

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 25, 2024

CONTACT: Corey Egel

CAHF Honors Long-Term Care Champions
Exceptional Care Providers Receive Prestigious Awards

SACRAMENTO – The California Association of Health Facilities (CAHF) proudly announced the recipients of this year’s Del Callaway Administrative Excellence, Excellence in Programming, Facility Super Star, Nurse of the Year, and Thomas E. Spindle Memorial awards. These achievements recognize outstanding members who exemplify dedication, skill, and compassion in the long-term care sector. The awards celebrate individuals whose daily work significantly improves the quality of life for residents and foster a culture of excellence.

“Our members’ unwavering commitment to their residents is the cornerstone of high-quality long-term care,” said CAHF CEO/President Cassie Dunham. “These awards are a testament to the extraordinary efforts made by these professionals each day. We honor their dedication and applaud their achievements, which inspire us all to continue striving for the highest level of care.”

Recipients were selected based on a range of criteria that focus on innovative care practices, leadership, and dedication to resident wellbeing. The honorees were celebrated during the CAHF 2024 Annual Convention & Expo in Palm Springs.

For more information about the awards and the recipients, please visit this webpage and scroll down to “CAHF Annual Awards.”

For more information about the Facility Super Star Award recipients, please visit this webpage.

###